■ ENGAGEMENT TYPES

Architecture Design Session (ADS)

Architecture Design Sessions are hosted at client sites by our own SharePoint experts (including Microsoft MVPs from Idea Integration) through limited scope, high energy technology design and review sessions. The foundation for readiness assessments and other services is established in this one to three-day engagement.

Proof-of-Concept/Proof-of-Architecture (POC/POA)

Understanding the MOSS 2007 platform is the foundation for successful collaboration solutions. POC/POA engagements allow Idea to fully demonstrate that a particular design is effective. These two- to four-week engagements yield a very clear understanding of the technology capabilities of a proposed solution and how they align with strategic technology investments.

Project (Implementation)

A properly designed, planned, and implemented MOSS 2007 environment is the key factor in ensuring that a collaboration initiative is successful. This process, which can last for a month or more, allows Idea clients to engage with Idea experts to create a stable and fully functioning platform on which they can move forward on future initiatives in a self-sufficient and confident manner.
